Weapons Co. Dragons Plt. 1st Bn 3rd Marines would like to extend our most sincere condolences to our brother's family and friends. As a member of Dragons platoon, Steve was an outstanding Marine, a trusted brother and friend to us all. It was not until recently that we discovered that Steve had passed while we searched for more of our brothers before our next reunion in August of 23. Rest in peace Steve, you will be honored in our memorial ceremony for our fallen. Semper Fidelis

A flash back to our high school days. Running the streets in Mike's Maverick. Pink Floyd ruled the air waves. Steve insisting the obscured verses were the best and not the new commercial stuff. He was very determined to get his point across. It earned him the nickname "War Pig" as we all had to be renamed something. We were glad he joined the Marines so he could pick on the other side for a while. He was always a great friend and we had lots of fun. Time always slips away. His was too short. Its been a few years since we spoke, you always think you will again. Rest in peace my brother! We will see you again someday. Our condolences to your family. May God help them through these tough times.
