Met you at my cousin Glenn's ad got to be friends on facebook, but just reading your post every day was such fun, because you made everyone feel like they had shared a part of your day, be pictures of your and little Blake's activities etc. I guess God just needed more people that are full of compassion and love as you, so he took you home to help him out. A lot of people are sad and missing you already,even tho they know you'll be fine. It's the void and emptiness that will take a while to heal. In your short life you will have one fine resume and hundreds of references to take home with you. Not that you'll need them:) Until you and your love ones meet again,may God and you watch over them With love and deepest respect,I bid you farewell till we meet again, June Davis Blair

Heather, Words can't describe how much u will be missed and are loved!!! The memories aren't enough to fill the void we will all will forever have, but knowing who u r are and the sunshine and laughter u brought to so many will run our hearts over! I am so glad to have u in my life for the almost three years. We had our ups and downs but our bond was always there. I am saddened to lose u, as u were my friend, my family, and part of my being who I am today! I thank you!!!! I miss you and love you indefinitely!!! Sweet angel watch over us as God has watched over you. Love-- Tess aka "TessieLou"

Heather never met a stranger and her smile and laughter made all around her feel her joy of life. We enjoyed hearing her sing and the stories she would tell (proud of her family). She would say what she felt (not hurting anyone) and that truly gave Mom a good laugh and giggle. Beautiful and lovely person to all.
