It's a shame that you never say the things you should when someone is still alive. I've had a lot of time to reflect, as we all have, on how Aaron touched our lives. Aaron was there for my high school graduation, he "tried" to teach me to ride a horse, he sold me my first car.....a 1972 Chevrolet Malibu. He's touched all of our lives one way or another; but I'll never be more grateful as to how he made my mothers life so much fuller that it may have been otherwise. He was a true blessing. He will be greatly missed.
