It may sound like a cliché, but Lynne was one of those "special" people who brought light and hope to everyone around her. She gave 200% in everything she did, was fiercely loving of her family and a cherished friend. Her enthusiasm was contagious. When I worked with Lynne in the eighties, she would often accomplish the impossible with sales and promotions. She always did things the right way, which amazed me because she had small children, and so many other things to do. She had an awesome energy level and was always "up" for doing things. Even though I did not keep in touch with Lynne, I will always treasure having known her and thought about her often. My prayers and thoughts go out to her family. I cannot think of a better person to have as a role model, mother, and friend.
