My sympathies go out to Carole's family. I loved her dearly and remember the last time that I visited with her. She was sharp and full of vim and vigor. I will always hold that remembrance of her in my heart. I will miss her, especially when the Bonne Ecole Lunch Bunch meets. She was one of us.

Carole was my first friend the year I taught at Christ Episcopal. Having both come from St. Tammany public schools we had much in common and knew many of the same people. Being avid readers, we had a continual "book swap" going. She was exceptionally intelligent, had an incredible sense of humor and wit and knew more about educational pedagogy than anyone I've ever known. I cherished our morning conversations before school and our lunches together after we both retired. I will miss her. Beautiful soul, thank you.
