Paw Paw Bert was one of the greatest men that I ever knew... He was a devoted family man for sure! It was an honor to know him & let my children call him PawPaw (even though they weren't really blood). He lived a long and wonderful life surrounded by the things and people he loved the most. Singing, joking, hugging, giving, and eating his jelly beans :) Although I would love to have asked God to keep him here on earth a little longer for my best friends; The Clement's- I am glad he is without pain walking the streets of gold and holding hands with his sweet Gloria. Lord, we are thankful for the time we had with him and all the memories we were able to make and cherish in our hearts. Even though he is gone on earth- this is only goodbye for now. We too will walk the streets of Gold when the Lord calls each one of us home. So-PawPaw Bert- I will end off at- I will see you later.. I love you - Jessica

I wanted you all to know that it was a privilege knowing Bert. From the minute we met him at dad's dinner table, to hearing him sing, speak German to Father Fred, to sharing Father Seelos' prayers, he was the most pleasant and agreeable man we've ever met. His faith speaks volumes and has inspired us all. Dad terribly misses him, but, acknowledges that Bert is in a better place. We miss him too. Our hearts and prayers are with you all. Sincerely, Vickie Martinson, Maggie Fahr, Alan Heughan, and Bert's roommate at the S.E.War Vets Home, Edward V. Heughan, Jr.
