I never got to say goodbye to you. This is what hurts me the most. One day, you're sending me off to Atlanta with well wishes of a safe trip and great time. You were so eager and excited for me finally finding the courage to travel on the road by myself, and even more eager to see pictures from my trip. You made me promise that I would take so many pictures and share all of them with you when I returned. I did as I was told. Just as I promised you. Then I get a call saying that you're gone. Still to this day I can't comprehend that it's true and something that I just have to deal with. But I just want you to know that I'll always think of and remember you and your bright and shining spirit. And that I could not and will not ever forget you. That I love you and know that you are now in a place of peace. Summer and Andrew, I wish you both nothing but the best and a sense of peace while having to go through this tough time of losing your mother. Ms. Nancy, you'll always have my love. And the memories that we shared will remain in my heart forever. Rest peacefully?

Ms. Nancy was a beautiful person, always smiling and so generous. I spent so much of my childhood at the Burglass house and Ms. Nancy was always so welcoming, and treated me (and other friends) like family. Even though she is gone, she lives so evidently through Summer and Andrew. I love you all! -Katie Bannon
