I remember one time when I was a little girl, we were visiting Aunt Dot. They had freshly painted something, and I was told not to touch. Of course, though, I was curious and did. I walked around holding my hand in the oddest ways, so no one would see the paint on my palm. Aunt Dot realized what had happened, and she gave the biggest laugh and the biggest hug along with a bright smile. As an adult, I also have fond memories of calling and visiting with her. Aunt Dot will be missed. She was so warm and a joy to be with. Candace Basco Alamilla (Tookie's oldest girl) Reston, Virginia

Out of the many memories I have with Mawmaw Dot my favorite one is when I was 7 we went to New Orleans to go to the aquarium but it was closed. So instead we hopped on the fairy and went to the Mardi Gras factory. We ate king cake and watched a short film on the history of Mardi Gras in New Orleans before walking around and looking at the floats all stored up. Before leaving we went into a little gift shop and she had gotten me this little key chain that had one of the floats on it. We all had so much fun that day. I will forever hold that day and her close to my heart.

My favorite memory of Aunt Dot is pickles. A jar of pickles, especially a home canned jar of "Bread and Butter" pickles, takes me back to the Old Home's kitchen. What a gift they gave to us by gathering together in the summer. I can still hear them talking and laughing, so happy to be together, as they worked in kitchen.
