Richard Charles Carrone

OCT 7, 1957 - JUL 4, 2020

Richard “Rick” Charles Carrone of Madisonville, LA passed away on Saturday, July 4, 2020. He was born on October 7, 1957 in Metairie, LA to Dominick Charles Carrone, Jr. and Louise (Follette) Carrone.

Richard is survived by his beloved wife, Joan (Legnon) Carrone; his children Melissa Carrone Bell (James) and Michael Charles Carrone (Cole); his seven grandchildren Bethany, Emily, Rachel, Hannah, John, August, and Zoe; and one great-grandchild McKenna. He is also survived by his mother Louise (Follette) Carrone and his siblings Brenda Hannula (Barry), Linda Gullo (Joe), and David Carrone (Maria).

Richard is preceded in death by his father Dominick C. Carrone, Jr., and his nephew Christopher Lankston.

Richard, a native of Metairie, LA, graduated from Bonnabel High School. He later went to work for Dow Chemical for 33 years. Rick was also an active member at First Baptist Church of Covington, and past member of Fellowship Church in Prairieville, LA.

Rick’s life was guided by his faith in God and his love of his family. Rick was a wonderful and dedicated husband, father, son, brother, and grandfather who cherished his time with his family. Rick fought a courageous and fierce fight against cancer. Most will remember him for his quick wit, sharp sense of humor, and selflessness. As Rick waits to see us again, he is at peace fishing the lakes in Heaven with his father.

Rick was my go-to guy when I was the production leader of Poly E over ten years ago. He gave his heart and soul to that plant, and i would have cloned him if i could. He taught me a lot about leadership. Too soon this beautiful man was taken from this earth... LOVE you Rick.

Ricky and I were the 2 middle children. We were the ones that were the risk takers/daredevils. The only ones that got in trouble with our parents. We both liked the outdoors. When we got older ...Ricky even though he was younger than me was actually like a Big Brother. I could always depend on him to help me with whatever I needed. He would Always research for me to help me buy things. I valued his opinion very much. My favorite time of year was with the family at Holiday gatherings. You put my 2 brothers together and u would laugh until you cried. At Christmas he enjoyed the Rice Krispie treats I made. I think of how he loved stuffed artichokes and muffulettas and his giant cups of strong coffee among other great food. When he retired it was suppose to be a new beginning of his life spending time with his family and boating. Instead he was at the Doctors appointments and treatments. Ricky was a fighter and never lost his faith or trust in God. I thank God for giving him to us for awhile but it was God's will to call him back home. We will all miss him and he will live in our hearts forever. Love u very much my brother.

Although we only met Rick and Joan a few short years ago, we always enjoy their company and conversation during holiday gatherings at Brenda and Barry's home. Rick was always nice to talk with and had a great wit about him! We have kept Rick in our thoughts and prayers during his illness and know that he is at peace with the Lord. Our saddest and deepest condolences are with Joan and the entire Carrone family.

I was fortunate enough to work with Rick for 20+ years. The last six years before he retired I was blessed to work in the office next to him and during that time I really got to know Rick. He was an honest man with great knowledge, witty, humble, and had a great sense of humor. He would frequently put others first and push his work aside to help and mentor others. Rick and I spend many late evenings at work together talking and sharing experiences. We would talk late into the evening to the point that we were the only two left in the building. With his wit and sense of humor, he quickly dubbed us "The Misfits". Misfit #1 and Misfit #2. One topic that Rick was sure to talk about every evening was his family. It was evident to me that Rick loved very much and was very proud of Joan, their children, and his grandkids. When he retired, the work days became a little longer, the meetings became less enjoyable, and the hallway just wasn't the same. Rick brought joy and laughter into our lives and we are all better because of him. We love you Rick, you will be missed.

Rick was my cousin. We first met when I was eight and he was 10, because my family lived in California, while he and all of the rest of my mom's extended family lived in Louisiana. After my mom's death, I visited several times over the years. Every time I visited Louisiana and saw Rick, he put me at ease by helping me to feel our family connection, through his easy manner, kindness, and wonderful sense of humor. I always enjoyed our conversations, as he was very smart, interesting, and witty. Rick was both blessed and a blessing. He was deeply loved by the wonderful family he was born into and the one he went on to build with his beautiful life partner and wife, Joan. I'm sending my love and deepest condolences to my family and everyone else who loved Rick. It's a great comfort to know he's in heaven fishing with my uncle. He's also reunited there with my brother, John, whose birthday was July 10, the date of Rick's upcoming service. ❤️🙏

Back in 2005, when I was living in New Orleans during Hurricane Katrina, not only did Rick invite me to weather out the storm with his family, he also assisted Michael and I during the aftermath. He brought down a trailer bed to help us move out of our badly damaged apartment. I'm so thankful Rick was put on this Earth. His kindness, generosity, and humor will be greatly missed.

Rick went by a lot of names, some he likely knew and others maybe he didn't and I'm sure there are a handful that will forever be under lock and key (I'm lookin at you, Joan :)) . Rick was so amazingly good at his job. Behind the scenes it wasn't uncommon to hear "ask the Oracle" or talk to the "Keeper", the "Master", the "Jedi", the "Historian". The man was an incredible wealth of knowledge and experience. In many ways, he was the rock upon which Poly was built...But, me and my 2 "brothers" called Rick, "Pop". Let me explain – see Rick took it upon himself to adopt 3 work "sons" with very specific stereotypical personalities. He dubbed one son, his oldest child. This child would be blamed for things far beyond his control and held to a higher standard than his other two brothers, simply because winding the oldest up with a double set of standards was just plain fun. He made one of us the baby. This son was heaped with affection and praise and lauded for even the smallest of feats, which he would promptly rub in his other two son's faces. And then there was his masterpiece, the middle boy. The neglected, attention starved, always lashing out middle kid. And we bought in on this little dysfunctional, highly entertaining and yet completely made-up imaginary arrangement. But looking back, it wasn't entirely imaginary and made up – we were indeed a family. A real family, built around its centerpiece. Pop. Pop could dispense hilarious, razor sharp one-liners in one breath and in the next impart a deep, meaningful pearl of wisdom gleaned from his own life of being a husband, father, son and brother. He adored Joan and gave her all the credit for the best parts of his life. He loved his children and had only one regret – he wished he had spent more time with each of you. Because I suspect that's what all dad's want. More time with their kids. We were only his "pretend" sons, but we are so incredibly blessed and definitely better men for having had our friendship with Rick. Our Pop. We love you. Jeremy, Brian, Christopher
