Daddy,It has taken me a while to be able to write this to you. The pain, loss and heartbreak is unbearable. There has not been a day that has gone by where I don't think of you and cry. I had the privilege of caring for you the last few months of your life. A life that you lived to your fullest. Always happy, leaning a helping hand to anyone and most of of loving mom, Jen , me and the kids. No one will truly understand the pain and suffering you went through. I will never forget your last breathe. I was honored that you waited for mom and Jen to leave your side and took your last breathe with me, holding your hand. Laying my head on your chest after you passed was the hardest thing I have ever been through in my life. I couldnt bear to see them take you from your home and from us that night. I struggle daily without you. I'm your baby girl. Your are my hero, my mentor and my heart. I will forever love you! I will forever celebrate your life. I will hold you in my heart forever. Thank you for giving me the best life you could have possibly given to me and the family. I'll talk with you everyday. Until I'm in your hugging arms again in heaven. Rest In Peace Daddy. I know you are up there watching over us and laughing with Both GB's and your brothers and sisters and most of all out of pain. I love you! Miss you!Love your Baby Girl....Holly (your name sake) Im little Hollis jr. just like you in every way!....you jokester! Smile big and bright, shine down on us.....my Sweet one eye Willie!

To the entire Boutian family we send our sincerest and deepest sympathy for the loss of your dear Hollis. We will miss him too. Our friendship with Hollis and Edna goes way back. Rad and I had the pleasure of double dating with them when we were still in high school. We wound up marrying the loves of our lives, and you really can't ask for better than that. We remained close through the years, with Rad and Hollis working together at the refinery and Edna and I keeping in touch. Though Hollis was taken from us far too soon, we know he's in a much better place with no pain or suffering. He was so blessed to have you all caring for him throughout his illness. We're so proud of Jenny and Holly stepping up to support both Hollis and Edna. Hollis always proudly bragged about his family, and rightly so. Know that in your times of grief you are surrounded and supported by family and many, many friends who dearly loved him and you all, as well. As always you will be kept in our prayers and in our hearts.

Oh that smile, I will miss it so much. We didn't expect to lose you this soon and though my heart aches for seeing that smile right now we know you are no longer suffering and are at peace with God and you're probably celebrating with family who have gone before you. I know you were only 1 when your Dad passed, but I bet right now your being greeted by both your Mom and Dad into their heavenly arms. If there is one thing in life you have taught me it is to never give up no matter what and I will hold to those values for the rest of my life.Please don't worry about Mom, like we told you a short time ago, we will take the best care of her that we can. I know you'll be up there watching over Mom, Holly, and me and your beloved Grand babies. They already miss you so much, but don't you worry, the time you've spent with them during their lives will not be forgotten. They loved you dearly and will never forget you. We love you Daddy. Rest easy and be at peace. 🕊️❤️
