I have plenty times with my mawmaw I would love to share but a few that come to mind is the amazing obsession she had with Elvis Presley. She would sing "Hound Dog" several times after picking me up from St. Peter's School. Celine Dion was a close second on her list and she would constantly sing "My Heart Will Go On" to me. The things I would do to hear her sing me that song again. Another great memory I have with mawmaw was when she would pick my brother and I up from school and took us back to Roquette Lodge for her card games because she didn't have enough time to take us home and do homework before they started. I loved sitting at those tables playing with the dominos after I finished my homework and watch how serious her and her friends would get into the games.
