Moved into Avanti like a wounded bird.. I know you felt defeated but still very strong willed.. you fought every obstacle that came your way... you came in as just a stranger becoming family right after.. as the days went by you became stronger and every couple of days you showed us a new trick you had learned... taught us a couple of things too!! if you were having a bad day at work all you had to do was stop at your apartment and you would say " breathe" I'm going to miss seeing you everyday and you will always have a place in my heart... spread your wings and fly... may you rest in peace 💜
