“ I just learned today from Alysha Schroeder (I'm in her Pilates class) of the passing of Jesse IV in May. I remember, Little Jesse (as he was called by Biff Jones & most all friends of Big Jesse), as a quiet sweet boy who I first met in early 90's and who grew into a fine young lawyer under his dad's tutelage. I'm so very sorry for your loss. My prayers are with you all.

“ Jesse,

I am so sorry for the loss of your son, Jesse IV. He lived more richly in his time here on earth than many people ever do that live to 80. Your son was kind, loyal, funny and so unusually transparent. That was probably my favorite thing about him. I always looked forward to seeing Jesse IV at bar association events and fundraisers and such and swapping those Stranger Thing stories on his old, wily neighbor. I am going to really miss him. Of course there are no words I can offer to ease your pain but please know that my family and I are grieving with you for your loss. You raised a good son in Jesse IV and I know from my conversations with Jesse IV that he professed Jesus Christ as his Lord and savior and feel confident we will see him again in Heaven.

Sincerely,

Trey Lape

“ We have known “Little Jesse” for many years. When you first meet him, you immediately see his kind spirit and caring soul. Maybe it’s that gorgeous smile that illuminates so clearly those traits. He cared deeply about the clients he represented and truly felt that he was a voice for those who had none. He was sweet and kind and never met a stranger. We will think of him often and remember him always.

“ Jesse left his life on earth too soon. He had so much going for him and accomplished so much at such a young age. He was full of life and lived life to the fullest. He was so close to his family and loved hanging out with them the most. And his dog the boss, I am sure the only one that could boss him around. He was like family to me and my son and I miss him deeply. I can't even imagine how his family is getting through this but they are so strong together I know in time they will find a way. Never getting over the loss but finding ways to honor him and the things he loved and cared about. They shared so many memories together and so much love. The grief that so many are feeling right now, especially his family, show how much he was loved. All the hopes and dreams of the future with his family are suddenly lost and it will take time to envision a future without his bodily presence that still honors his life, he will be with them forever in spirit. My heart goes out to Jay, Lauren and her son, Jesse III, his two Moms and the rest of his family. May the holes in your heart be filled with his light letting you know his love will always be with you. So sorry for your loss. Sending prayers, love, and light.

“ He was as handsome as he was gracious and polite when I first met young Jesse as a young attorney. And being a member of the profession myself , I well know that coming across as a nice guy is not always the first impression a young attorney makes on people. But Jesse's goodness as a person was there for all to see. My heart goes out to my friend, his Dad; and I pray that all the goodness that I sensed in the Jesse we lost, will be not just remembered but carried on by those who knew and loved him.
